At Fans Created, our goal is your goal – helping your organization succeed. Whether through business consulting services, or quality facilitation at a conference or training event, you can book the name you trust with confidence!

innovative solutions for your organization

Trust is vital when partnering with a consultant. Our CEO, Jason Boles, has built a solid reputation as a speaker, trainer, and consultant for clients nationwide.

Whether creating a successful sales and service culture, facilitating strategic planning, or delivering highly-motivating and fun speaking engagements at conferences nationwide, Jason is ready to bring his experience to your organization!

speaking services

Give your conference attendees what they paid for – education and entertainment!

Jason uses his knowledge and humor to deliver meaningful and entertaining content to audiences nationwide. One of the most sought-after speakers in the industry, you can book with confidence knowing you have the name you trust on your conference agenda!

training services

A well-developed staff is key in helping your organization meet its strategic goals and objectives – and selecting a training provider who is knowledgeable, reliable, and fun are key elements to success. Before becoming popular on the speaking circuit, and recognized by the industry as a quality consultant, Jason built his reputation as a high-energy, enthusiastic, and thought-provoking training facilitator.

From sales and service, to leadership development, you can book the name you trust to provide your organization with the skills needed for success!

consulting services

Experience, commitment, and trust are all key components when identifying a strategic business partner. As a successful management consulting firm, we have the experience you need, the commitment to help you succeed, and a solid reputation built on trust and proven results. Partner with the name you trust for strategic consulting services!
